

National Removals:

Pre-move survey

It all begins with the comprehensive survey together with you at your home. All relevant details regarding your move will be discussed and noted in the survey. The volume of household items to be moved will be determined. We will also discuss with you which furniture is to go and which is to stay. We can dispose of any unwanted items and perform household clearances, if required. We will leave your flat or house in a clean and tidy condition and, if required, we will even undertake the handing-over of your flat/house.

Household items

Whether it be furniture, cars or piano – we have many years of experience of moving just about everything. Irrespective of what you want to take, we have all types of cartons for all types of items. We have cartons for books, cartons for household linen and cartons for clothes - and what we don't have, we can have made.

Loading address

Our trained personnel dismantle your furniture, disconnect your electrical devices and your washing machine. And of course, we pack everything such that it arrives undamaged. Anything that is well packed is on the right road. We know what sort of packing material your household items need. Tissue paper, bubble-wrap, padded blankets etc – and everything is always at hand. Do you want to move the contents from two households into one and have two different loading addresses? That's no problem – we will co-ordinate that for you.

Transport insurance

Would you rather not take any risks? Then there's an insurance for everything. Whether for replacement value or new value, whether only against total loss (free of particular average) or an all-risks coverage. We will provide you with a suitable offer.

Storage

Would you rather not take your furniture with you or only a part of it? We've even thought of that as well. We have a temperature-controlled furniture warehouse where we can store your household items in a warm and dry environment until you return or you need them again. The items can be delivered, as you want, when you want and wherever you want.

Transport methods

We keep in mind which form of transport is the best for you. Via road or water – we keep track of things.

Delivery address

Have you arrived yet? We're already expecting you. Our professional team of specialists will do everything for you. You will get your household items delivered at the time agreed, your furniture will be assembled and your cartons will be unpacked.

INTERNATIONALE SPEDITION

Does the new work surface need cutting in the new kitchen? What about connecting the washing machine and the oven? No problem, we will deal with all of that. We work together with many certified master craftsmen. Good contacts – that's something which is to your advantage. That's how everything runs smoothly.

A neat job – we will obviously leave everything neat and tidy and will take away the old packing material. Or would you rather unpack the cartons later? Again, no problem. We will happily collect the packing material at a later date. Everything as you'd like to have it. It is our desire that you can settle in quickly and feel at home.

Our experienced specialists can also take on the job of finding a flat or house for you. Or they will help you with the paperwork or with the trips to the authorities. Just ask, and we will organise a competent local contact person for you.
